

DESIGN BRIEF

Joni Lin and Matt Lee and their two children, aged 6 and 8, live in a 2100 square foot four bedroom single family house in an established neighborhood in Salt Lake City Utah. The house was built in the early 1980's and the interior finishes appliances are worn out. Joni and Matt have lived in the house for 10 years and had originally planned to move to a newer house that better meets the needs of their growing family. However, after spending some time looking at alternatives they are reluctant to give up their current neighborhood because it is close to their offices as well as the children's schools. They now want to see what can be done to remodel their current house to see if they can make it work. In this exercise we are going to undertake the design of the main floor of the house. Joni and Matt rarely use the formal living and dining spaces and have found the kitchen to be awkward and small. The back deck gets lots of sunlight and they would like to improve how they use it as well as connect it more to the interior of the house. They would also like to have an enclosed main floor office as Joni hopes to start working from home one or days/week in the near future.

Dennis is moving up from a condominium that he has lived in for the past five years. He has enough equity after selling to do a fairly major upgrade to this unit.

This is the Project Documentation Package for Part One of this week's Design Project. The goal of the Design Project exercises is to learn about the design process for making an existing home more Simple, Light, and Open. Review the Design Brief in this documentation package to understand what the client needs and wants for their home. Use the existing floor plan to analyze how Simple, Light and Open the home is in terms of these needs. For background information on what to look for, review the Simple Light Open description on the website.

Draw overtop of the plan as you analyze the house and then write down your observations about the design and your recommendations for change. When you are ready, watch John Brown complete the first part of the Design Project and compare your results. To discuss the exercise further with John, and other participants, add your comments to the blog. In the next segment we will be applying these recommendations to create a concept design.
